

Welcome to the butterfly-moth visual similarity study.

Please read the instructions below.

Image classification

In this task, your goal is to decide whether a test image is a butterfly or a moth. We provide one reference image from each class to support you.

Please classify the test image by determining which reference image looks the most similar to the test image. Try your best to break ties.

Enter image classification